

The Earth Hour Murder Suspects!

Jefferson Deighton

The Mysterious Gentleman

A lawyer by day, Jefferson is a private person and has an appreciation for fine things, especially the theatre. Although he enjoys his epicurean lifestyle, Jefferson is known for whisking away to foreign destinations without informing anyone of his plans. He is mysterious, secretive and intrigues all who meet him.

Sheriff Michael Angel

The Obtuse Sheriff

Michael Angel is the local sheriff, and is in control of the local prison as well as his fleet of law enforcers. Despite this prestigious position, his small-town Sheriff duties do not keep him very busy, so he spends most of his free time in his office playing his Desperate Housewives video game and carving animals from the bars of soap in the bathroom.

Tiyana Angel

The Forensics Specialist

Tiyana Angel, wife of Sheriff Michael Angel, has always been fascinated with justice and has dedicated her life to forensics. As a forensic specialist, she is one of the top agents in her field and has a mind like a sponge, able to absorb anything she hears or reads and commit it to memory. In her spare time, when she is not examining evidence, Tiyana enjoys pouring a glass of red wine and curling up to watch the TV show CSI (to pick out the procedural errors the show gets wrong).

Diana Ivory

The Entrepreneur

Diana is a budding florist. She only recently moved to the area and opened her own flower shop in the downtown core. Diana loves being her own boss and is enjoying her new life, especially attending the opera. She always attends social functions alone and rarely speaks to anyone.

Katrina Rosenberg

The Event Planner

The epitome of style and class, Katrina used to be a nurse, but left it all behind to become one of the city's most respected and well-paid event planners. She was in charge of putting together all of the details for the party tonight, and her reputation precedes her. She loves all things expensive and rare – and she can afford them!
